Off campus life

My video is about what I will do after school to release the stress from anywhere. I record my off-campus life in San Jose. People have a lot of work and homework to do every single day, some people may feel happy to be busy, but some may feel depressed due to stress. If people want to have a healthy life, they should have their own way to accept the depression and release. This is the way I lived and released my stress. I create the storyline and capture the scenes with my roommate in SJSU and HWY 9. Also, it is the respect to Initial D, my favorite cartoon and movie.

The beginning of the video will be the life of on-campus to express the happy things or fun things in campus to show score is not good but still happy. And then the scene of going back home will record in parking garage and gas station as they are the place I must go through. When I am home, I take a shower and go to sleep. However, I can't sleep and watch the time that is still good to go outside so I go out to drive in hill. Recording the looking of car, starting up and stepping couple times on gas are the sense of ceremony for aggressive driving. I will record the view from the road to the hill as a process and the views of the front of the car, first personal and third personal to show how fast is the speed, how good is the hill road and how good is the turning. Also, I will insert some views of the dashboard to show the REV as the second type of showing the speed.

Finally, I do satisfy myself and learn how to make a video. That's amazing night for me.
