3 Digital Video Artists

For my 3 digital video artists, I chose Petra Cortright, Cory Arcangel, and Maurice Benayoun. Personally, for me, I like to create art using bright, animated, and abstract colors. If I were to approach a video art, I would still follow my artistic expression using bright and lively colors that makes you feel like you in a completely new world. When choosing 3 digital video artists, it was a little difficult because most of them have different artistic styles. For example, Petra Cortright, she based her videos of herself and add different illusions. Cory Arcangel's video is a post-internet video art about digital schema and contemporary culture. While Maurice Benayoun is about his creation of technology such as a contemporary virtual reality. Each of the artists I've researched are different types of video art, it helped me to be open-minded to digital video art.
